According to President Wingfield's annual report the Goldfield Consolidated mines have produced $59,475,201 since they were discovered a few years ago. The net proceeds last year were $2,731,944 and the gross yield was $5,438,853.09.

The White Pine News say that an Ely Greek offered Naturalization Agent Littleton a bribe of $50 if he would make the questions easy and permit him to get his citizenship papers. Littleton exposed the fellow in court and his application was dismissed without prejudice.

The body of a man of middle age evidently a laborer was found on the Southern Pacific tracks in the Sparks yards Sunday night after train 23 went through. He had evidently been instantly killed by falling from the train, his head striking a rail. It is thought he attempted to alight from the rapidly moving train as it was going through the yards.

Word received from Carson City this afternoon is to the effect that Joe Mattias, who was so brutally beaten last week at his cabin in Gold Canyon, had regained consciousness, and although very weak, his general condition is satisfactory. His chances for recovery are now considered excellent. The swelling on his head has gone down and he can now see out of his eyes. He is not able to talk to any extent, and it will probably be several days before he will be able to give his version of the affair—Virginia Chronicle.

According to latest reports Kelly's bum army has dwindled to 300 men and they are gradually being starved out. Were it not for the support given them by a few misguided people they would soon drift away and be forgotten.

It was at a children's party and the small guests were having the usual lively talk over the cake and ice cream. "I'm head of the first class in my room," Giles announced proudly. "Teacher was telling me so this morning." "Ho, that's nothing retorted Harold. "I'm going to be ring leader at my sister's wedding!"

Dr. F. B. Nash, the veterinarian, reports the unusual operation performed by him this week of the removal of a fifth leg from a horse in the Fallon district where he has been for the past two weeks. The extra leg protruded from a point below the knee of the left front leg and had a perfect foot on it. The operation was a complete success.—Lovelock-Miner.

What a difference, temporarily, the visit of the assessor has been known to make in the cash value of property. Land worth fifty to one hundred dollars an acre has decreased one half in value when the assessor has made his rounds, and the same land has been known to jump to more than its former value when a prospective buyer came upon the scene.

The Griswold-Henderson Livestock company of Elko has concluded a deal with E. L. Roberts for the sale of his landed interests in the Cave valley, embracing 920 acres. Mr. Robertson does not intend to leave that section of the state as he has extensive mining interests in the Saddle range to which he devotes his entire energies.—White Pine News.

J. E. Gignoux, one of the prominent men of the state, died in San Diego, Cal., on the 13th. He will be remembered by the old timers of Elko as one of the teachers in the university when that institution was the pride of the town. His remains were taken to Reno for burial. Mr. Gignoux served the people as state senator and a member of Reno's city council. He was a good citizen and an upright sincere man. Peace to his ashes.

When a man habitually complains that his home town is dead it may be taken for granted that he has done his worst to make it dead and that he is even deadlier than his town. A preacher once said at a funeral service: "The late respected corpse was member of this church for forty years." There are lots of towns like that unfortunate church in that they have "respected corpses" in the population. It needs live men and not dead men to build up a town.

Last night in the Athens saloon in Steptoe City, Violet Neilson ended her sad career by shooting a 32-caliber bullet through her head. The girl, who for the past two weeks has been under the influence of liquor became despondent yesterday afternoon and without any farewells, locked the door to her room and fired two shots, only one of which took effect. The Nielson woman has been located at the Athens saloon, or "the Greek joint" as it is commonly called, for the last seven months.—Expositor.

KELLY'S ARMY

MEN ARRESTED

Having been arrested for breaking into a Southern Pacific box car, five members of Kelly's "army" were arrested at Imlay by Constable Rich and brought here and placed in jail. They were found in the box car near Kodak station by the crew of an eastbound freight train. The door of the freight car, which had been broken open, was nailed up by the trainmen and the men inside were kept prisoners in the car until the train reached Imlay, when Constable Rich took them into custody. Charges of burglary will be preferred against them and they will be given a preliminary examination here Thursday before Justice Campbell of Imlay.

There were about twenty more members of the "army" on the train and when it reached Imlay some started out of town eastward on foot and the others waited to catch the train out.

A members card showing that he belonged to Kelly's "army," was found on one of the men arrested by Constable Rich. It is a red ticket with this wording on one side:

"No. Co. D—65.
"This is to certify that the undersigned is a member of the Unemployed Army and entitled to all the good offices of all organizations in sympathy with the unemployed men—whether they are members of their own organization or otherwise.

"Chas J. Kelly, Secretary."
On the other side of the card is written and printed the following: "I hereby solemnly swear that I will abide by the rules and regulations adopted by the Army of Unemployed; and carry out, so far as lies in my power, the wishes of this organization; and that I will defend a brother comrade, at all hazards, and will execute to the best of my ability the will of the majority.

"A. Kallenberg.
"Member's Name"
The other four prisoners had similar tickets but destroyed them when they were arrested.

The men state that the Sacramento authorities are shipping the members of Kelly's army out on eastbound trains in bunches of ten or fifteen. In this manner the California authorities are "passing the bunch" to Nevada, despite the protests sent by Governor Oddie. Similar depredations committed by the lawbreaking element of the "army" are to be expected at points along the railroad in this State until the straggling bands of "I Won't Workers" finally make their way through the State on their eastward journey.—Humboldt Star

A MEAN ADVANTAGE

Editor Hawville Clarion—"Look here, Pastor Harps, it strikes me that you are taking a mean advantage of my son.

Rev. Mr. Harps—"How so?"
Editor—"Well of course my son is in love with your daughter and she doesn't seem to like it very well. And he is learning the printing business under me. But in spite of this, I hardly think you were warranted in preaching from the text you chose yesterday: "My daughter is grievously tormented with a devil."

THE PLUMBING ORDINANCE

The more we study the plumbing ordinance now before the county commissioners the stronger our opposition to it grows. One of our main objections to it is that it gives the inspector too much power. Under it he has the power, under the direction of the board of health, "to inspect and examine all buildings and places in the town of Elko SUSPECTED of being in an unsanitary condition."

This gives the inspector the power to enter your house under a mere suspicion that your plumbing is not sanitary and cause you trouble and expense. It seems to the ordinary person that if the plumbing of a house is not sanitary and is endangering the health of the community the occupants of that house would be the first to find it out and have the evil corrected. Giving a man clothed with a little brief authority the right to enter your premises on a mere suspicion is a dangerous right to give to anyone.

Then the inspector in the next article is given the right to inspect all plumbing in the town of Elko "at times as are reasonable and in such manner as will insure a sanitary condition thereof." In this case he does not even have to suspect that the plumbing is unsanitary. He has the right to enter your premises, whenever he wants a job and put you to expense. Experience has taught us that the plumbers are very much like other people and that the temptation to get a job might sometimes outweigh their judgment and sanitary plumbing would be declared unsanitary. This is very likely to happen if an active, working plumber is given the position of inspector.

There are other objections to this ordinance that will be discussed from day to day. In the meantime our columns are open to any respectful communication dealing with the ordinance.

THAT FREE WATER SYSTEM

Mr. Holgate takes some exceptions to our article the other day, in which we commented on the speech he made at the meeting to organize a civic league. The burden of his talk was that nothing could be done in bettering conditions in Elko, because "Somebody was making money out of it." In the course of his talk, he said the town of Elko was offered a free water system a few years ago and that the offer was rejected, because "somebody was making money out of the present system."

Never having heard of such a proposition before, a few days after the speech we interviewed Mr. Holgate as to when and to whom the offer was made. He replied that it was made to Wm. Dawe.

Leona Stull in "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" At Bradley Opera House Tomorrow Night

Frank Williams, himself and possibly to E. M. Steninger. Just four and no more. Now it naturally occurred to us that these three or possibly four persons were the ones that turned the free water proposition down because "someone was making money out of the present water system," and we so stated.

We have interviewed several citizens of the town since that speech was made and have found no one outside of those mentioned by Mr. Holgate who knew anything about it. Perhaps there are others but we have not been fortunate enough to run across them.

Yes, the writer signed the petition for incorporating the town and would do so again under the same conditions. At that time we favored a sewer system above everything else and signed the petition for incorporation as a means of getting the town sewered. When the sewer system was an accomplished fact we had no further interest in the incorporation movement.

Now, Mr. Holgate, is it not true that those to whom the free water proposition was made kept it from the people of the town and were responsible for its being turned down? You say in your communication that this proposition was made to the promoters of incorporation, and yet you charged in your speech the other night that the proposition was turned down by the town. Don't you honestly think that was an unjust charge against the town? You must come to that conclusion unless you hold that the three or possibly four persons mentioned above are the whole thing in Elko.

Rather a tough proposition for the people of Elko to swallow at a single gulp.
